

Don't keep it to yourself – Infoshare it!

Infoshare is a very simple idea - short audio messages of helpful information about anything to do with living with sight loss, that anyone can phone-in and record, whenever they like.

These messages are then shared over any phone, on smart speakers, online and on various specialist audio players.

People may phone-in with tips, hints or life-hacks about living with sight loss that could benefit others; daily-living equipment can be bought, sold, exchanged or given away; charities, organisations and product suppliers that support vision-impaired people also phone-in to share what they can offer those living with sight loss; and Infoshare's own reporters call-in from time to time with items of interest as well.

And that's the broad mix of informal information that, with your support, we can all freely exchange and share.
